is holding up because of the baby. If she breaks down now she says we'll have nothing. She's been so brave."

Kordich, who has been in the Navy about one and one-half years, was to be stationed at Agasaki airbase for two years. He was born here, going through WALTERIA elementary school. He attended Torrance High school, went fishing commercially with his grandfather, and enlisted in the Navy at 17 years.

He has three sisters and a brother, Mrs. Lani Marie Britt, Sharon, 13, Frank, 11, and Kathy Kordich, 7.

"Mrs. Kay Reed at Western Union has just been so marvelous," Mrs. Mazarovich continued. "She has gone out of her way to be nice to us. I didn't know people could be so nice."

"We received another telegram from the Navy Tuesday," she said. "It said 'Don't give up hope. We're not. You can't imagine what it feels like every time the phone rings. We always expect to get the word one way or the other. Someone always stays by the phone. We've gotten so we don't listen to the news any more. We figure that pending court suit on deed restrictions in the area is resolved.

Owners of the property filed suit to seek invalidation of deed restrictions which prevent them from using the land for anything other than single-family residences.

The commission tabled consideration of the matter by a 4-2 vote until a decision is handed down in Inglewood Superior Court.

Spaghetti Feed Scheduled by 223rd St. PTA

There's a combination of shouting and whispering among the mothers of 223rd st. PTA these days.

They're shouting about the delicious spaghetti dinner, which will be held at 223rd st. school, on Tuesday, April 9, 5-7 p.m. They're whispering about the mysterious, unique pots in which the ingredients for the spaghetti will be mixed.

Preceding "Open House" the PTA is holding a benefit bake sale, from the kitchens of the best cooks in town at 5 p.m.

Mrs. David P. Goolsby, 223rd st. PTA president, was in charge of the meeting held on March 12, in the school auditorium. Dr. Peter J. Guzvich, psychiatrist, head of the San Pedro Mental Hygiene Clinic, spoke on "Discipline at Home and in the Classroom."

Plans were disclosed for a door-to-door campaign by PTA mothers to encourage voting in the April 2 election and to familiarize voters with Proposition B and C.

The child welfare project for March, for Lomita-San Pedro Council, and the PTA is saving clean used egg shells for the Homer Toberman Settlement house. The children color and fill them with confetti and then sell them at their carnival. They should be received by any board member before April 1.

Mrs. Francis Anania was elected to succeed Mrs. David P. Goolsby as president of 223rd st. PTA at its March meeting.

Chosen to serve with Mrs. Anania during the 1957-58 term are Mrs. Edward Kollmeyer, first vice-president; Mr. Charles Gustafson, second vice-president; Mmes. D. King, recording secretary; Wallace McLay, corresponding secretary; Paul Kelso, treasurer; Fred Trujillo, historian; Oren Deuschle, auditor; and David P. Goolsby, parliamentarian.

Burton M. Oliver, supervisor of Thrift, Conservation and School Savings Section, spoke on a constructive and positive program of thrift as an objective and responsibility of each Los Angeles City school.

The school's instructional program for the teaching of thrift and conservation values is interpreted for our purpose as a four-fold responsibility of the parent, pupil, teacher and principal, and is designed to give pupils every opportunity to develop habits of thrift in regard to time, materials, money and human and natural resources.

As a part of this program, the local banks are cooperating with the Los Angeles City schools in making it possible for children to open a School Savings account for as little as one dollar.

"We'll get it straight when we get it. We're asking all our friends to hope and pray with us."

Sister Wins Prize for Napfkuchen

Mrs. Hazelle Sabatella, from Beaumont, Calif., sister of Mrs. Gertrude Carpenter, 2340 W. 255th st., Lomita, won first prize in the cake division of the 42nd annual National Orange show in San Bernardino, March 19.

Of the thousands entered in the preliminaries, only 110 are selected to compete in what is termed the "world's largest baking contest. All cakes and pies are baked during the contest. Mrs. Sabatella won a gas range and a $100 gift certificate for her Orange Blossom Napfkuchen (coffee cake).
